

The editors of the journal Človek a spoločnosť [Individual and Society] are currently seeking theoretical and research papers dedicated to:

Social media and networks, smartphones and its users from a psychological, social or pedagogical perspective

Topics of interest include but are not limited to:

- Social media/networks literacy (e.g., critical thinking, scams, phishing)
- Social media/networks users (e.g., QOL, FOMO, addiction, cyberbullying, trolling, social distancing, loneliness, anxiety, depression, children, older adults...)
- Ethical and privacy concerns
- Social identity and social polarization (e.g., populism, democracy, social identity frames, catfishing)
- Social media/networks marketing (e.g., social media influencers)
- Social media/networks as a tool for misinformation (e.g., Fake news, hoaxes, conspiracies, trustworthiness)
- Social media/networks sentiment, public opinion (e.g. hate speech, immigration, COVID-19, policy issues, elections, climate crisis)
- Unconventional views on social networks (e.g., historical ...)

The Special editor of this issue is Marek Maluš, PhD. (University of Ostrava)

Submissions need to be sent by July 15, 2022, to: durkovska@saske.sk